

John Schneider, AIA, LEED AP

John Schneider is a principal and director of the Interior Design practice area at Lord Aeck Sargent. With more than 25 years of experience, John's approach to design is to blend creativity with strategy, art with technology, design with business – all into a fresh, honest, innovative and compelling final product. Working with businesses of all sizes, John creates inspired design solutions based on business-centric creative strategies that build and reinforce brand awareness.

John started his professional career in New York where he worked for Richard Meier & Partners and Kohn Pedersen Fox. His clients include Martha Stewart Living, Nicole Miller, Time Warner, The Coca-Cola Company, Turner Broadcasting and corporate headquarters for Popeyes Louisiana Kitchen, The Lucas Group and Fortis. John's experience also includes the delivery of higher education, public and multi-use facilities.

With a love for product design, John has designed custom lighting and furniture including a seating collection for Knoll.

John received his Master's degree in architecture from the Graduate School of Design at Harvard University and holds an MBA from the Goizueta Business School at Emory University. His undergraduate degree was in philosophy at New York University.

John is a member of the American Institute of Architects and is a National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB) certificate holder. John is a LEED Accredited Professional and believes in design solutions that promote environmental sustainability.

In his leisure time, John enjoys spending time with his wife and three kids, photography, music and video production.
